

Government Heads Launch Attack In Defense Of Mellon

President Confers with Secretary of Treasury and Senator Watson

OPPOSE LONG INQUIRY
Objection to Employment of Heney Lies Deeper Than
Grounds Set Forth

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—The administration is preparing to renew with increased vigor its counter-offensive against the fight on Secretary Mellon
in the senate.

President Coolidge conferred at length Monday with the treasury
secretary and with Senator Watson
of Indiana, one of the administration's senate leaders and chairman of the special committee which is investigating the internal revenue bureau. It was indicated Senator Watson would make another speech in the senate, probably tomorrow setting forth in greater detail the argument for discontinuance of the inquiry.

Other senators on the Republican
side are expected to join in the counter-attack in support of President Coolidge's charge that the revenue
bureau committee has not kept with its proper rights and his warning
that the time has come for the senate to "return to a government under and in accordance with the usual
forms of the law of the land."

Whether Secretary Mellon will take
any further direct part in the argument remains to be developed.

WATSON OBJECTS TO HENRY
In renewing his request for action
on his resolution to end the revenue
bureau investigation, Senator Watson will reply to the statement issued Sunday night by Governor Pinchot
of Pennsylvania who suggested employment by the committee of Francis J. Heney. The Indiana senator takes the position that nothing is to be gained by the inquiry proposed by Governor Pinchot, into prohibition enforcement under Secretary Mellon.

The general question of the strategy to be employed in the next phase of the battle was discussed at Monday's conference between Senator Watson, Secretary Mellon and President Coolidge.

He hastened to the capital to report the views of the president
to the conference or Republican senators which met prior to the convening of the senate.

Should an agreement be reached by
the Republicans to proceed with immigration bill, Senator Watson indicated he would make no move to bring up his resolution Monday.

WILL CONTINUE FIGHT
The impression was given in administration circles that the opposition to employment of Mr. Heney lay much deeper than the technical legal grounds set forth by the president in his message and that the fight against such step would be continued regardless of Democratic's proposals to make
Mr. Heney's retention legal by a formal senate resolution.

The president pointed out in his message that to employ the famous California prosecutor with the understanding that his expenses would be paid out of the pocket of Senator Couzens, Republican of Michigan, would
conflict with the revised statutes.
There appeared to be a complete
agreement Monday, however that Mr.
Heney's employment under any circumstances would not only be objectionable to the White House but would be regarded by Mr. Coolidge and Secretary Mellon as a proof that
the inquiry was actuated by destructive and not constructive motives.

Senator Watson charged in the senate on Saturday that such a step
would mean that every piece of scandal and gossip floating on the turbulent waters of Washington would be dragged out to public view, and
that a "mudslinging" campaign unparalleled in American history would result.

WILL BE WAR TO KNIFE
Beyond that, the president and his advisers appear convinced that if Mr.
Heney is permitted to direct the course
of the investigation it will amount to nothing less than a war to the knife
between Mr. Mellon and the elements of his party represented by the incident by Senator Couzens and Governor Pinchot.

President Coolidge was told Monday
by Mr. Mellon that the senate investigation had developed nothing which was not disclosed two years ago. The only result, he declared, had been a serious breakdown in efficiency of the internal revenue bureau.

Not Guilty

By Associated Press
Kenosha, Wis.—H. E. Eichelman, arrested on Saturday evening charged with the murder of his wife, Caroline Amelia Eichelman, whose body was found in their apartments here last Friday afternoon with a bullet
through the heart, was arraigned before Judge John C. Slater in municipal court here Monday morning. A plea of not guilty was entered by Attorney Alfred L. Drury who appeared for Eichelman and the hearing was adjourned until next Saturday morning.

The entire hearing consumed less than a minute and a half and there was no statement of any kind made by the defendant. After the hearing closed just before 11 o'clock, attorneys taken at the coroner's inquest for Eichelman declared that the hearing on Saturday would be submitted to Judge E. B. Belden of the ci-cuit court Monday afternoon and that he would be asked to release the defendant on bail. It is said that friends and relatives will provide any
bail suggested by the court.

Eichelman has declined to make any statement in regard to the case
other than to stoutly protest his innocence and to assert that his best judgment is that Mrs. Eichelman killed herself. No direct evidence of the guilt of Eichelman was brought out
at the coroner's inquest.

when he declared that the British
people were to see a reduction

gle in parliament over the budget.

The Conservatives are preparing to

President Will Have Opportu-

G. O. P. When Tax and Bonus
Bills Come up.

ton Post-Crescent.

Washington, D. C.—A topsy turvy
week it has been in presidential politics and in legislative developments
in the national capital. President Coolidge himself has furnished the climax—the demand that senatorial investigations be conducted within constitutional limits which carries
with it the implication that the executive feels he can express what seems to him a growing resentment
against government by investigation.
The president's defense of Secretary Mellon was prompted by the knowledge that he might lose a capable secretary of the treasury if the sniping by congress continues. Men like Andrew W. Mellon are not tempted away in the public service under conditions that approach muck-racking and the president has seized upon
the Mellon case as a means of striking at the extremes of the senatorial inquiries.

INNOCENT BEGINNING
The fight between Secretary Couzens
of Michigan and Secretary Mellon
had its innocent beginning in the exchange of letters over tax reduction.
Had Mr. Mellon been a more experienced politician, he would not have rubbed the Michigan senator's nose
in the matter of correspondence and would have omitted the sting in the letters and confined himself to dis-passionate answers. Instead the reply which Senator Couzens received aroused his wrath and the feud resulted a few days ago in the proposal
of Mr. Couzens to pay out of his own pocket for the employment of Francis Heney to prosecute by investigation the bureau of internal revenue
which is in Mr. Mellon's department.

Even so, Democratic admitt that Secretary Mellon is not the usual
type in governmental service and that his integrity is not being questioned, but they disapprove of the president's statement that congressional committees should not undertake to inquire too closely into the workings of executive departments.

STIFFEN DETERMINATION
The effect of the president's triumph in the primaries of Illinois, Nebraska, and Michigan has been to stimulate his supporters, but mostly
to stiffen him in his own determination to assert his leadership over his own party. His opportunities are near at hand. The soldier bonus bill
will come before the senate this week.
The Republicans probably will offer
the same measure as passed the house—an "endowment insurance bill"
while the Democrats under Senator Simmons will propose an amendment
making it a simple matter to convert
the insurance certificates into ready cash. Under the latter plan the cost will be higher. Mr. Coolidge has not sworn anyone the intimation that he has changed the attitude expressed in his first address to congress when he stated emphatically he did not favor
the granting of a bonus. Whether the bill can be made acceptable to him with amendments such as the Democrats are planning to add by means of a combination with insurance Republicans is doubtful. The chances of a presidential veto would appear to be growing stronger.

Time legislation will have the right
of way in the senate but at almost any time a motion to put the bonus
bill ahead may be adopted, chiefly because the present tax plan does not include in it any provision for paying the bonus, and Mr. Coolidge might have the same excuse that Mr. Harding arranged. It would not be surprising if the Democrats succeeded in tackling the whole bonus bill on the revenue measure by using that argument.

D. A. R. LEADER URGES WOMEN TO BACK LAWS

President Coolidge Will Address
Daughters of American Revolution

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—An appeal for law enforcement, particularly with regard to prohibition, and for faith
in the government was made Monday
by Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president general, in her annual message
to the thirty third continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The congress, assembled in Continental Memorial hall
here for a week's session with about 2,000 delegates present from practically every state, will hear President Coolidge Monday evening. The French Ambassador Sir Esme Howard also will speak. President Cool-idge's address will be broadcast by radio.

Election of the president general
does not take place this year but eight vice president generals will be elected later in the week.

URGES USE OF FRANCHISE
Mrs. Cook urged the women of the nation to exercise their right of suffrage and make themselves responsible for the character of government
federal, state and local. She advocated the fostering of patriotism through education, as one of the needs of the day and remarked that "at this particular moment in our national life
when we are beset with assaults up-
on our trust in public officials it is well for us to renew our beliefs at
the deep wells of old faiths."

Mrs. Cook told the delegates that immigration would be most pressing problem before congress when legislation was enacted and advocated a restrictive law which would prevent the admission of great numbers of south Europeans, who she said, would herd in congested centers and constitute a danger spot in the body politic. She urged an adequate army and an adequate navy as a guaranty of national peace with honor, and declared the country required a merchant marine, even if a subsidiary could be necessary.

By Associated Press
Philadelphia, Pa.—Russell William Thaw, claimed to be the 13-year-old son of Harry K. Thaw, was Monday
allowed to intervene through a guardian, in the Thaw insanity proceedings which begin in common pleas court Monday.

Judge John Monaghan, in permitting the boy to intervene, announced
he could do so, not through his mother, but through a guardian. Thomas E. Cogan of counsel for Evelyn Nesbit was then appointed guardian during the proceedings.

While the formalities of drawing a jury were gone through with, Evelyn Nesbit remained in the office of William A. Gray, her counsel, in a nearby office building. Mrs. Thaw, the 52-
year-old mother of Thaw was at a hotel waiting to be summoned.
Thaw's entrance into the small courtroom was impressive. Clad in black, his portly form and gray hair
gave him the appearance of a well to do professional man. There was a marked dignity in his bearing. Walking beside him was the Rev. Edward Warfield, an old friend. After sitting for a time in the section reserved for lawyers, he and his friend moved
back to seats among the spectators.

When the prospective juror under examination said that without hearing the evidence he would pronounce
him sane, Thaw nodded vigorously.

APPLETON MAN'S CAR WRECKED IN ACCIDENT SUNDAY

Near Fond du Lac

A Packard coupe, owned by Dr.
Robert Larsen, 860 Clark-st., and occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Larsen and another couple whose names could not be obtained, was totally demolished and all four occupants were scattered, scratched and bruised in a smashup on highway 55 about 11
miles southeast of Fond du Lac.
According to word from Fond du Lac,
the machine is a total wreck. It is smashed so thoroughly that little salvage will be possible.

From the same source of information it was learned that Dr. Larsen immediately arranged to secure a new Packard coupe, an exact duplicate of the one which was destroyed, in an effort to prevent publicity to the accident. It was stated that Dr. and Mrs. Larsen were taken to Milwaukee immediately after the accident to get a new car. License plates and all other articles of identification were removed from the wrecked machine
which was taken to a Fond du Lac
garage.

SKIDDED ON PAVEMENT
Witnesses said Dr. Larsen lost control of his machine when it skidded
on a slippery spot in the pavement.
The machine skidded about a block
and then crashed into a culvert, turning over and crushing the body.
Farmers living in the neighborhood
pried the car up with poles while the occupants were being extricated.
It was reported that one of the doctor's guests suffered a severe laceration of the scalp. Mrs. Larsen was injured about the knee and Dr. Larsen
was cut about the face and hands.
The fourth occupant of the machine
also was cut and bruised. Witnesses said that the fact that all four were
not more severely injured is nothing short of miraculous.

MOON CRAZED FARMER TAKEN AFTER BATTLE

Bootlegger, Maddened by Own
Rum, Throws Wife and Tots
Out of Window

By Associated Press
Chicago.—Alone in his home with his seven weeks old son, Anton T.
Ulmonek, reputed to be a bootlegger,
exchanged scores of shots with besieging police Sunday on his farm at Hodkins, Ill., before he was finally subdued.

Crazed by moonshine liquor said to have been of his own distillation, Ulmonek threw his wife through a closed window and buried after her
two of the children, Mary, 11, and Tony, 14 months.

Mrs. Ulmonek who had been cut by the glass ran screaming to the home
of neighbors. After Ulmonek had frustrated efforts of neighbors to remove the baby, an appeal for assistance was sent to the neighboring town of LaGrange.

By firing rifles and shot guns from
windows on all sides of the house, Ulmonek kept the police at bay. He was captured after he had boldly
stepped out in front of the house and fired point blank at Chief L. G. Matthews of the LaGrange force, missing
him by a hair. The three policemen
then grappled with the madman and shackled him.

Half a dozen rifles and shotguns and
several revolvers as well as a large stock of ammunition, were found in the house. The baby, John, lay crying but unhurt in the crib.

By Associated Press
Chicago.—Chicago police Monday
were searching for the husband of the young woman whose body was found Saturday concealed under boards and other debris in one of the Cook concrete preserves. "The supposed murder victim has been identified as Mrs.
Anna Degoy, 28 years old, who was married last November and had not been seen since February 25. The husband, James Degoy, 30, also has been missing from his usual haunts
since that time.

The mystery of the crime has been
heightened by evidence that the body
was hidden in the forest only a few days before its discovery, although
the woman is believed to have been slain about the time of her disappearance. It is believed the body was immersed in a nearby creek and removed by the slayer for burial as soon
as the ground thawed out. A man reported to have been seen several times in the forest recently is said to answer to the description of the missing husband.

Mrs. Thomas H. Kohnke, mother of the slain woman, informed the police
that when her daughter last visited her in February, she told Mrs. Kohnke that her husband had threatened
her life and had beaten her.

"Simplicity marked the funeral serv-

THE PRESIDENT IS RIGHT

President Coolidge is quite right in the vigorous protest he has lodged with the senate against indiscriminate, revengeful and destructive investigation of administrative departments. His communication refers specifically to the resolution adopted by the senate committee appointed to investigate the bureau of internal revenue, under which it is empowered to employ Francis J. Heney to assume charge of the inquiry and to examine witnesses in the capacity of a prosecutor. Mr. Heney's services are not to be paid for by the government, but out of the private purse of Senator Couzens, author of the investigation, who has a personal grievance against the secretary of the treasury.

The procedure which the committee contemplates, if carried out, is an altogether new and dangerous departure. There can be no objection to investigations which have a corrective or constructive purpose, such for instance in this case as reforms in law and administration, but to completely throw down the bars and expose departmental heads and other officials to what in effect is a trial of their conduct, without even the formality of specific charges and without giving them the ordinary protection afforded by the rules of admissible evidence, is, as Mr. Mellon has pointed out, and as the president emphasizes, an unwarranted interference with the government. It can have no other effect than to disrupt administration and to create a condition of lawlessness.

Early in the course of tax revision, Senator Couzens entered into a controversy with Mr. Mellon on the merits of the latter's proposed bill, in which Mr. Couzens had decidedly the worst of the argument. The senator from Michigan then launched into a personal attack upon the secretary of the treasury which he has continued intermittently and which has terminated in the incident to which President Coolidge now takes strong and entirely proper exception. It is not even a partisan investigation, but rather a personal persecution which Mr. Couzens has succeeded in putting under way. Mr. Mellon has gone so far as to induce the companies in which he is said to have invested interests to waive their legal rights and to turn over their tax returns to the committee. This has shown what everybody knew would be the case, namely that Mr. Mellon has not used his office to favor in any sense these companies. This in itself was an extraordinary performance, which reflects no credit upon anyone, and it will be still more extraordinary if the senate permits Mr. Heney to personally conduct Mr. Couzens' animosities into the affairs of the treasury department. There is a clear intimation by Mr. Mellon that if the senate acquiesces in the step he will resign from office.

There is plenty of opportunity for reform in the administration of the tax laws, but the knowledge essential to such reform can be obtained without turning a senate committee into the form of a grand jury and criminal court. We have gone far enough in this direction already, and it is time, as the president says, that we returned "to a government under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land."

THE RIGHT TO BE WHAT WE ARE

A home truth has been stated by Representative Johnson, chairman of the immigration committee of the house. In his reporting of the new immigration bill, passed Saturday, he stated that any government not imposed from without, must necessarily be the expression of the ideals and standards of the people composing the nation. Therefore, if we change the make-up of the nation to people of different traditions and different standards, we shall necessarily change the government that has been handed down to us.

The new immigration bill, accordingly, shifts from an apportionment based on the numbers of the foreign-born shown by the 1910 census to one determined by the 1890 census. This makes the racial percentages substantially the same as what would have resulted if the racial origins of all people in the country had been considered equally, including the natives as well as the foreign-born. The stocks from southern and eastern Europe will therefore no longer be given 45 percent of the immigrants when they represent only about 15 percent of the people. This meets the demand by the people that the general make-up of the nation shall remain unchanged until we have had a chance to digest what we have already taken in, and until we can tell what its effect will be.

The immigration issue has been too much clouded by disputes as to the superiority of one race or another—a most unprofitable waste of breath that leads nowhere. Our right to continue what we are, and to invite whom we choose is something not to be questioned. Decision on this by the American people is to be made without apology, and it can be accepted without humiliation by others as between equals. It is a right possessed by all people and involves the right to self-preservation. It is a right that needs enforcement, not vindication.

BACK UP THE ALLIED EXPERTS

That the reparations experts investigated their subject thoroughly and honestly with the object of bringing permanent economic and political settlement in Europe, cannot be questioned. Their comprehensive report, bearing every mark of sincerity and justice, attests to their high purpose as well as to their great ability.

Politicians and economists will pick flaws in the report, and factionists will belittle or condemn it. Any plan covering the problem of reparations might be imperfect in small details, yet wholly sound in major recommendations. This particular report is as nearly perfect and practical as human genius, industry and integrity could make it. The very composition of the committee makes it so.

Germany is told frankly that the suggestions offered by the experts must be adopted as the only means of averting economic and political disaster. France is advised that Germany must be afforded full opportunity to make restitution and that there must be no interference with commerce under German management in the Ruhr. Germany is informed that reparation must be paid up to the limit of capacity and that she cannot have any advantage in governmental cost over her commercial competitors.

Either this report must be adopted by all concerned as final, or chaos in Europe will lead to critical consequences. Agreement and settlement are not open to discussion beyond a certain reasonable limit. This report is that limit.

Germany probably will find objections to a few features. France may resist surrendering possession of industrial and transportation properties in the Ruhr. There is reason to hope that the sound leadership of France will acquiesce in the recommendation. In Germany the monarchists may attack the report as a circumvention to win power. But if all the great nations of the world back up the report acceptance may be effected speedily. It should have the whole-hearted support of Americans and of the government of the United States.

THE MEASLES SEASON

May is the month of measles. If I had time to write it out I might point out how April splashes bring May measles, but that would entail considerable explanation lest the unsophisticated reader imagines measles comes from getting the feet wet. Dr. Charles Hermann, who has studied the question carefully, reports that he can find nothing in the temperature, humidity, rainfall, sunlights or winds characteristic of May as against other months of the year, and he suggests that there may be a special susceptibility similar to that which make certain individuals have far fever at a certain definite season.

In measles the infectious material is in the secretions or discharges from the nose and throat, and the disease is communicable through these secretions from the beginning of the so-called "catarrhal stage" until the eruption is well out. This is a fact of great importance. It means that this disease, like many other communicable diseases of children, is spread principally before the child goes to bed, in the stage of invasion, when it is very easy, thanks to the moral suasion given to so-called health guardians, hygienically uneducated teachers, diagnostic-dodging doctors and selfish parents, for the oncoming measles to masquerade as a "cold." An isolation period of five days from the beginning of the illness is much more effective in preventing the spread of measles than an isolation of two or more weeks from the appearance of the rash. The disease is in fact not spread through or from the rash, and by the time the rash is well out as a rule the danger of infection is passed. But so long as the "cold" delusion retards the moral support it has from our health authorities, measles is one of the many preventable diseases our children must contend with—blame it on the weather if you like.

A passive immunity lasting for about eight weeks is conferred by the injection of about a teaspoonful of blood serum obtained from measles patients in the first week after convalescence, provided this dose is injected not later than four days after exposure to infection. The immunity is not absolute, but is sufficient to make the method of greatest value in combating a measles epidemic in an institution where many babies or children are closely confined. This prophylactic is not as yet applicable in general practice.

Measles spreads from nose to nose. The best prevention—so long as the health authorities are enamored of the "cold" nonsense—is to teach your children to Cover every cough or sneeze

So you will not spread disease.
Show your playmates what is right:
Health comes first; so be positive immunity to measles which fairly well protects them up to the age of five or six months, as a rule. They get that passive immunity from their mother's blood. Nearly every child over six months of age is susceptible and will contract measles if exposed to infection. Measles epidemics in institutions are fatal, the mortality ranging from 15 to 35 percent. In private practice the death toll averages about one child in every twenty children who contract the disease. And yet uninformed folk sometimes deliberately expose children to measles on the advice of some busy-body who assures them it is better to "have it over with." Bronchitis and pneumonia are the complications which make measles a dangerous disease.

How to treat measles is a question which the wise parent will leave to the judgment of the family doctor.

World's News

Told In Brief,
Simple Style

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

That no presidential candidate will get a majority—that Congress will have to settle it—looks likelier every day, politicians say. If he runs independently, it's predicted, LaFollette, who's won Wisconsin's primaries already, will carry Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and Colorado, too; maybe Iowa, Nebraska and Idaho. It's hardly possible, dopesters declare, against such odds, for either Coolidge or the Democratic candidate, whoever he may be, to beat his main rival plus LaFollette.

TWAS A SURPRISE

Al Smith's victory in the Wisconsin Democratic primaries was a surprise, though it is a wet state. Experts admit he must be stronger in the west than they thought. This, with his New York and New England following, makes him formidable—perhaps not enough so to win but enough to have a lot to say about picking somebody else.

AFTER NEW YORK

Harlan F. Stone's appointment to succeed Atty. Gen. Daugherty is regarded as a Republican bid for New York. Nearly everybody thought Judge Kenyon would get it, but Iowa isn't considered as doubtful as New York, nor has it so many electors.

THE THREE W'S

Secretaries of War, Agriculture and the Interior, Weeks, Wallace and Work are distinctly in the class under investigation in Washington. T. F. Lane, army air service lawyer, warned not to appear before the Daugherty committee, testified anyway. Thereupon he was fired. That's the first thing Weeks must explain. Wallace is accused of trying to keep livestock commission rates high. Work is blamed for inefficiency in the reclamation service.

DOPE IN PRISONS

An investigation of dope-selling in prisons is due. Ex-Warden Dyche says he started one in the Atlanta Penitentiary, but Superintendent of Federal Prisons Votaw, Harding's brother-in-law, squelched it to prevent a scandal.

Dry sleuths were uninvited guests at a New York banquet of prominent men who served on the general staff during the war. The invitations read, "B. Y. O. B.," meaning, "Bring Your Own Booze." How Much Freight Do You Consume?

(James H. Collins, in St. Nicholas.)

Beginning with as much freight as he could carry on his back, man has developed ways of carrying goods about until we Americans—the worlds record-bearing "freight consumers"—now haul on the railroads alone more than 29 tons of goods for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Let us see what that means for a healthy boy weighing 115 pounds.

He needs, first of all, three tons of food a year, of which, a half ton is meat, fish, poultry, eggs, butter and the like; and the rest, flour, grain, vegetables, fruit, hay and cattle food. A boy eat hay and cattle food? Yes, indirectly, in the form of meat and milk, so they must be hauled to the

A. It should be cut as soon as the grass has started to grow. It should then be given a dressing of acid phosphate, three pounds, and sulphate of cattle. In this part of his freight bill are also included the wool, cotton and leather that makes his clothes and footwear.

Next, he must have a roof over his head, and that takes two tons of lumber yearly, and about a ton of cement, brick and other building material, including furniture. He must be kept warm, so the railroads haul eight tons of coal for him every year and a couple tons of metals and ores.

He will want many, many things from factories, ranging all the way from steel rails, which are used indirectly in his service, to a motorcycle or radio set that he will want to use himself, as directly as possible.

Necessitates hauling three and a half tons more, with a half-ton of odds and ends that have been overlooked.

And the motor truck, the express company, and the post office are probably hauling half as much again for him; so that from one year's end to another he must have nearly one and a half times his own weight of freight every day.

Worth remembering when the dingy freight car or noisy motor truck speeds by.

Q. When did we get the Philippines and what is the total population of the islands? A. I.

A. The Philippines were ceded to the United States by the treaty of Paris, 1898, following the Spanish American War. There are 7,083 islands. The largest, Luzon, contains 40,814 square miles, and Mindanao, the next, 36,905 miles. The population is estimated at 10,350,640.

Q. Is there any method of filling cracks in concrete caused by frost? L. H.

A. The Portland Cement Association says that in mending a crack in cement it is advisable to clean and roughen the old surface thoroughly, then apply cement grout, which is a mixture of cement and water and is of a creamy consistency. Fill crack with new cement.

Q. Where was the Burnt War Department? T. C.

A. The War Department was housed in a building on the south side of Pennsylvania Avenue between 21st and 22nd Streets, and was destroyed by fire in 1891. The blackened walls stood for many years and was known as the "Burnt War Department."

Q. How long have rats been in the United States? M. V. S.

A. The date of introduction of the rat into America is very doubtful, but the black or Alexandrine rat seems to have come first and was gradually driven westward by the larger rodents. They were doubtless conveyed to this country by ships. The black rat found its way to Europe about the beginning of the 16th century, but the brown rat did not reach England until about 1725.

Q. Why do the gold and silver coins of the United States have a milled edge? E. L. D.

A. They are milled to make it easy to detect a loss of weight caused by scraping the edge.

Q. How many negroes are in business for themselves? J. R. C.

A. There are estimated to be at the present time 50,000 negroes engaged in their own business and manufacturing, with a volume of business of $1,500,000,000.

Q. What is an iconoclast? N. M.

A. The word "iconoclast" is derived from a Greek word "ikon," meaning "an image breaker." Figuratively used, an iconoclast is a term applied to a person who breaks down established customs and beliefs.

Q. Please settle an argument. A friend claims that the word "cometary" was first used in this country and that in England they said "church yard." Is this true? H. K. M.

A. Both the word "cometary" and "churchyard" have been used for many centuries in England. The word "cometary" was originally applied to the comet in Rome. It is found that as early as 1357 in England, the word "churchyard" on the other hand, appears in the Old English Chronicle as about the year 1154.

The Misses Clara Belzer of Appleton and Miss Beulah Larson of Stevens Point were initiated into Theta Sigma Phi, honorary professional journalistic fraternity for women, by the Lawrence chapter on Saturday morning. It was filled with local jokes and proved to be one of the best ever presented to the fraternity.

Since the foundation of the local Journalistic group which later became a chapter of the national fraternity, each group of initiates has been required to write something for the amusement of the active members. It is a requirement that it be read by its authors.

FIRST STOCK FAIR ATTENDED BY LARGE NUMBER OF FARMERS

Larger Space Will Be Required to Accommodate Many Visitors

Small pigs were sold for from $1 to $4.50 and $5. In one instance a farmer sold a large load of them for $1 each. In addition to horses, African geese, livestock and other farm products were sold or traded. The event stimulated local business to a great extent. "ONE ARM" DRIVER FINED AFTER HITTING CHILD

Shiocton.—Escaping death by a miracle, little Frank Rehne, 5 years old, was pushed over by the foot of a motorcycle policeman and run over by an automobile driven by John Schmidt, bar porter at a hotel here, who, police said, was hugging a girl companion with one arm and driving with the other. Schmidt was arrested immediately afterward and was fined $10 in municipal court on a charge of reckless driving. The arresting officer was trying to stop Schmidt at the time and speeded ahead of the car just as the little boy ran out into the street. He pushed the boy over to keep the car from striking him as he dashed past on his motorcycle. The auto passed directly over the prostrate form of the boy without touching him. When stopped, Schmidt said he was only teaching the girl how to drive.

NUNNERY RUINS GIVEN TO OXFORD

Oxford.—The university has just been enriched by the gift of the ruins of Godstow Nunnery, near here, where Rosamond Clifford, the reputed mistress of Henry II is believed to have been buried. The nunnery was founded by Editha, wife of Robert D'Oiley and consecrated on Christmas Eve 1138. It is related that when Hugh, Bishop of Lincoln, came to Godstow in 1191 he was shown the magnificent tomb of Fair Rosamond in the center of the choir of the Nunnery Church, and reminded that "for love of her" Henry had done much good to the church. The bishop ordered that the body should be taken up and buried outside "lest Christian religion should grow in contempt."

RULE WILL MAKE IT EASY TO OBTAIN $500 EXEMPTION ON HOME

Assessor Expects to Carry Necessary Affidavit Blanks With Him

No matter who may have been opposed to the homestead exemption law, still now that the law is in effect no one need express his opposition to the law by neglecting to take advantage of the $500 exemption from the assessment of his dwelling place, it was pointed out by A. C. Rule, city assessor.

Mr. Rule has had a great number of inquiries about the homestead exemption as well as requests for the affidavit blanks that must be filled in and given to the assessor.

No one need be deprived of the advantages offered under the law, Mr. Rule says. To see that no one does, the assessor will carry his notary public seal and a quantity of affidavit blanks with him while he makes his tour of assessing so that homestead owners may file out the affidavit while he makes the assessment. In addition Mr. Rule will keep his office open as usual during assessment time on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. Home owners may also secure the necessary blanks from E. L. Williams, city clerk. There are three ways therefore in which any home owner may secure the exemption and he does not take the exemption and he who does not take advantage of them will have but himself to blame.

FILE BY JULY 1
The blanks have not yet been printed but are expected to arrive shortly. Home owners have until July 1 to file their exemption affidavits. The exemption does not apply merely to persons who hold a clear title to property, but also to those whose homes are mortgaged or are occupied under a land contract. Actual occupancy by the owner is essential, however. Yet a part of the home may be let to a tenant, and the owner-occupant can still claim the $500 exemption. Tenants under long term leases and who pay taxes also seem to be entitled to exemption. The exemption applies to the assessment of the buildings and improvements on the homestead only to the extent of $500 and not to the land itself.

In recording the fact of an existing exemption on a homestead, it is expected that the tax rolls and assessment rolls will still be uniform to the extent of the description and assessment of properties.

MEANS MORE WORK
Mr. Rule believes that a special column for exemptions and another for the balance of the assessment on the buildings and improvements inserted in the tax and assessment rolls will simplify the accounting methods.

The plan probably would be to first list the name of the property owner, then the description of the property, and after it the assessed valuation of the buildings and improvements, then the values of the land and lastly the total assessment. This plan, Mr. Rule believes, would be more practical than the one by which the city clerk would assume the entire burden of the work and make the deductions himself from information conveyed by the mere letter "H" in the assessment rolls, as has been suggested.

LUMBER MOVES AS WEATHER IMPROVES

Improved weather in the middle West and North has resulted in considerable activity in the construction field, and lumber retailers are busy loading out building materials, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. The greater proportion of the stocks in retail hands has already been sold, and a few more days will find the yards comparatively empty. Much buying for replacement purposes can then be expected to develop. Wholesale trade meanwhile is still slow, partly on account of retailers' lack of space for new receipts, and partly because of hopes for somewhat lower prices by the time the lumber is actually needed. Transit cars, which usually are in big demand at this season, for filling in purposes while mill orders are being placed and filled, are just now in moderate call, but the supply is only fair, with the result that there is little pressure and that prices are well held. Practically all transit cars now on hand are of southern pine, this of Douglas fir being notable for their scarcity. This is due to the extreme caution exercised by west coast wholesalers, who during the last few years have had some sorry experiences with transit shipments.

The southern pine market, then, is a shade lower than it was a fortnight ago, is steady but shows no tendency toward weakness. The mill's have accumulated fair stocks, but show no eagerness to move them, in view of the fact that they are still subnormal and of the excellent prospects for trade when construction becomes more active.

APPLETON WOMAN WRITES HISTORY OF PIONEERS

Mrs. Alice Waters Jones, historian of the Appleton chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution, has compiled several sketches of pioneer settlers of Outagamie county that were written by Appleton people of today. These have been sent to Mrs. Dehmel, state historian, who is to use them in a book she is having published on pioneer women of Wisconsin. When the book is published the local chapter will place a copy in Appleton Public Library for the use of the public.

SUNSET DREAM SONG ENJOYS LARGE SALE

"Land of My Sunset Dreams," called by some another "Three O'Clock in the Morning," is the most popular song in Appleton judging from the rapid sale the selection has had. It is written by Wendell Hall, author of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'" and one of the most prominent of radio artists.

A song that is just as popular as "Land of My Sunset Dreams" is "A Smile Will Go a Long, Long Way." This was listed as one of the most popular at all music stores. "Whose Izzy Is He" deserves to be mentioned as one of the most popular, for sales of this piece have been very good.

Other popular numbers include "The One I Love Belongs to Somebody Else," "Goodnight, Moonlight," and "Calling." Most popular songs at local stores are:

Meyer-Seeger—"A Smile Will Go a Long, Long Way, Calling, Land of My Sunset Dream, Song of Love, Whose Izzy Is He."

Wm. H. Nolan—"Land of My Sunset Dream, A Smile Will Go a Long Long Way, The One I Love Belongs to Somebody Else, Aint You Ashamed, Why Did I Kiss That Gal?"

Irving Zuelke—"Land of My Sunset Dreams, A Smile Will Go a Long Long Way, Good Night, Moonlight, Whose Izzy Is He, It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'."

COLD WEATHER DELAYS SHIPMENTS OF CHICKS

Deliveries of day old chicks through the Appleton postoffice are growing heavier, but the season for shipping of the chicks is somewhat late, this year, according to reports. This is due to the rather raw weather of the last few weeks. There have been only a few days in which chicks could be sent through the mails without incurring the danger of being chilled. The peak of the shipments is expected soon.

Nerves On Fire From Neuritis

Thousands of people afflicted with neuritis take medicine for rheumatism and wonder why they don't get well. Such people do not know that even a slight attack of rheumatism may develop into a severe case of neuritis or "nerve inflammation," which calls for a different treatment.

Neuritis is often accompanied by a feeling as if the nerves were on fire, soreness in the muscles, stiffness in the joints or a tingling sensation in the hands or feet. Always there is pain—sharp, agonizing pain—which may hurt constantly or only at intervals.

Eopa Neuritis Tablets will quickly soothe the throbbing, aching nerves and gradually assist in removing inflammation and soreness. Guaranteed harmless. Used and endorsed by physicians. Price $1.00. URGE BETTER MAIL BOXES AT HOMES

A movement has been inaugurated in the postoffice department in behalf of better and more serviceable mail boxes at residences. Postmaster William H. Zuehlke of the Appleton is strongly in back of the movement, as he feels the carrier service can be much improved if patrons provide the proper kind of mail boxes.

The fault to be found with many mail receptacles are that they are of insufficient size to hold the average amount of mail that is delivered. Mr. Zuehlke says that the boxes should be large enough to hold both letters and newspapers. He advises against purchasing cheap boxes equipped with a mere wire spring to hold the newspapers and magazines.

Another bad feature of cheap mail boxes is that they have sharp edges, and that the enamel wears off easily and causes the boxes to rust. This is a menace to the carriers who may cutting from the sharp, rusty edges, Mr. Zuehlke said.

I am wondering, Syd, why it is that I am not more furious over the situation. Why should Leslie ask some other man's advice and why should that other man think he had to write to tell her to go and see his own attorney?

I don't mind telling you that my heart stood still when I read that cablegram. Of course the first thing I thought of was Leslie was thinking of getting a divorce from me. But I really could not see any reason for that, for I have been perfectly true to her ever since our marriage, and while I have perhaps been less attentive to her than I might have been, surely she must understand that after marriage life is something besides a series of moonlight and flowers and thrills.

Of course I know I hurt her pride most terrible when I sent her to her father for money. No woman wants to confess to a divorce from me. But I have not only married an ass, but one who will use her to get him out of a tight scrape.

I have the greatest contempt for myself, Syd, every time I think of that episode. I know she was not only greatly disappointed in me, but the fact that she had to tell her father some trumped-up excuse or by telling him the truth, explain that she had married a man who was less honorable than she had thought, must have almost broken her heart.

If I thought she would understand

I would tell her the whole blamed thing just as you advised me. No woman can understand the complex heart or mind of man.

To tell the truth, we don't understand ourselves.

I am quite sure Leslie has made a confident of Ruth Ellington and you know of course that a woman who has lived with Harry Ellington could have very little respect for the masculine sex.

I don't know exactly what Ruth has said to Leslie, but I do know Leslie is much more independent, much surer of herself, much less dependent upon me since Ruth has opened that shop here in town. I am beginning to suspect she is all the while thinking, "If Ruth can make a success in business, I can also."

A man at the club the other night said, in speaking of Ruth Ellington's new business venture, "Now that women have found out they can support themselves, the men of the future will have harder work to keep their wives than they have had in the past. It will take something more than a wedding ring to make them think they are obliged to live on in circumstances which spell unhappiness for them."

This man was a bachelor, Syd, but he seems to have had the right dope. Probably you, as a bachelor, thought the same thing. That is the reason neither of you have ever married. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

TOMORROW: Jack concludes his letter—Leslie is gone to New York.

Adventures Of The Twins

BEANSTALK LAND

One day the Fairy Queen sent Silver Wings, her messenger, to the meadow where Nancy and Nick, the Twins were playing.

"Hello!" called Silver Wings, settling on a large purple thistle and looking exactly like a beautiful butterfly.

"Hello!" shouted the Twins, "Who are you and where are you?"

"I'm me and I'm here," called Silver Wings, chinking with laughter until the little purple thistle blossoms bobbed up and down like a bird-cage on a spring.

That attracted their attention and the Twins flew over and knelt down on the grass beside the thistle blossom, the better to talk to the little fairy.

"I've got a letter for you," said Silver Wings in a tiny voice. "It's from the Fairy Queen and I think you will like it. Twinkle-Pon, her secretary, told Nimble Toes, and Nimble Toes told me what was in it. But it is a surprise so I won't tell you until you read all about it. There."

ORGANIZED LABOR HAPPY OVER NEW IMMIGRATION LAW

Restriction of Immigration
Made More Severe by New Measure

Organized labor in Appleton is pleased over the passage of the immigration act by the house of representatives. The Appleton Trades and Labor council at its last meeting endorsed the Johnson immigration bill and urged Congressman George J. Schneider of Appleton to support it.

Congressman Schneider himself had offered two amendments to the bill as affecting the residence here of alien seamen, but Fred Bachman, president of the trades and labor council had no information as to whether the amendments were adopted.

Among the general features of the immigration act are the yearly limitation of immigrants to 2 per cent of the 1920 population of the nationalities represented by the aliens. This is more severe than the old immigration still in effect and practically excludes Japanese. Wives and unmarried children, under 18 years, of resident aliens are not affected by the restrictions, neither are unmarried children under 18, father or mother over 55 years, and wife and husband of United States citizens restricted by the 2 per cent quota.

HOPE CONCERT WILL COMPLETE BAND FUND

Appleton Lions, pleased with the advance sale of tickets for the concert which will be given Wednesday evening by the Green Bay High Schools band, under auspices of the local club, are confident that the profits from this entertainment will be almost sufficient to complete the fund of $1,000 which will be used to purchase band instruments for use of Appleton high school pupils. A considerable sum has been raised by the club since the fund was started and club members are hopeful there will be ended Wednesday night.

Green Bay is enthusiastic over its band which has been highly complimented by many music critics. It is composed entirely of high school pupils who have worked together for about a year to perfect their work.

STRONG THEME VERY DISCREETLY HANDLED

Seldom is an author given the opportunity to picture his own story on the screen. It is hard enough to write a story that will picture at all. However, Chas. A. also been left in their original state, not made to masquerade as screen material.

"Man and Woman," at the new Bijou today and Tuesday, written for the silver sheet, belongs there. It is replete with action, consistent characterizations and those clashes which are best translated in terms of physical action. Also it transpires in an atmosphere of rich romantic beauty—the South Sea Islands.

The story of a society girl who seeks unusual means of proving her intention that clothes make the man, is an interesting one. It becomes extraordinarily interesting in the telling because it veers away from the usual.

At the outset Mr. Logue places

his characters in a piquant situation; the girl who introduces the beach-comber, attired as a gentleman, at the governor-general's ball. Then when she believes her theory a fact, she makes public her deception. The man she has duped kidnaps her and takes her to a lonely island, there to put into practice his own argument to the effect that the society girl will become a derelict if she is deprived of the refinements of civilization.

AT THE ELITE

"The Spoilers," Jesse D. Hampton's screen production of Rex Beach's celebrated novel of the Klondike, which was presented by Goldwyn at the Elite theatre today, is an immense picture.

When Selig filmed this red-blooded romance of Alaska's gold rush a decade ago, it was regarded as the greatest photoplay of its day. But this 1923 version is assuredly one of the most spectacular and exciting pictures ever made.

A remarkable cast is seen in the picture with Milton Sills as the manly hero; Anna Q. Nilsson as Cherry Marlowe, the loyal dance-hall queen; Barbara Bedford, a pretty brunette as Helen Chester, the innocent heroine; Noah Berry as McNamara, the crooked but courageous politician; Mitchell Lewis as Marshal Voorhees, afraid of no man that walked; Robert Edeson, as the rough-and-ready Joe Dextry, mine owner and ready to face death for his rights; Sam de Grasse as the cowardly Judge Stillman; Robert Nic-

Kim as Struve, the crooked lawyer; Ford Sterling; Rockliffe-Fellowes, Louise Fazenda, Gordon Russell, Wallace MacDonald, and numerous other players well known for their ability to act Western roles.

It isn't this superb cast and its skillful acting which make "The Spoilers" such thrilling entertainment. It's the story. Rex Beach described at first-hand the feverish fight for gold in the Klondike when the sands of the Yukon suddenly turned yellow. His account of how the miners were despoiled of some of their richest properties by corrupt politicians is an historic event. Beach crammed his novel with conflict, romance and suspense and this Director Lambert Hillier has skillfully portrayed on the silver sheet.

The crashing climax in "The Spoilers" comes of course, in that epic fight in which Glennister and McNamara settle their scores. Their tussle is one of the very best rough and tumble fights of the screen. If you enjoy a red-blooded exciting film, with a real story, don't miss "The Spoilers," at the Elite today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

I am wondering, Syd, why it is that I am not more furious over the situation. Why should Leslie ask some other man's advice and why should that other man think he had to write to tell her to go and see his own attorney?

I don't mind telling you that my heart stood still when I read that cablegram. Of course the first thing I thought of was Leslie was thinking of getting a divorce from me. But I really could not see any reason for that, for I have been perfectly true to her ever since our marriage, and while I have perhaps been less attentive to her than I might have been, surely she must understand that after marriage life is something besides a series of moonlight and flowers and thrills.

Of course I know I hurt her pride most terrible when I sent her to her father for money. No woman wants to confess to her family that she has not only married an ass, but one who will use her to get him out of a tight scrape.

I have the greatest contempt for myself, Syd, every time I think of that episode. I know she was not only greatly disappointed in me, but the fact that she had to tell her father some trumped-up excuse or by telling him the truth, explain that she had married a man who was less honorable than she had thought, must have almost broken her heart.

If I thought she would understand

I would tell her the whole blamed thing just as you advised me. No woman can understand the complex heart or mind of man.

To tell the truth, we don't understand ourselves.

I am quite sure Leslie has made a confident of Ruth Ellington and you know of course that a woman who has lived with Harry Ellington could have very little respect for the masculine sex.

I don't know exactly what Ruth has said to Leslie, but I do know Leslie is much more independent, much surer of herself, much less dependent upon me since Ruth has opened that shop here in town. I am beginning to suspect she is all the while thinking, "If Ruth can make a success in business, I can also."

A man at the club the other night said, in speaking of Ruth Ellington's new business venture, "Now that women have found out they can support themselves, the men of the future will have harder work to keep their wives than they have had in the past. It will take something more than a wedding ring to make them think they are obliged to live on in circumstances which spell unhappiness for them."

This man was a bachelor, Syd, but he seems to have had the right dope. Probably you, as a bachelor, thought the same thing. That is the reason neither of you have ever married. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

TOMORROW: Jack concludes his letter—Leslie is gone to New York.

know. His sad fate taught all the other giants up there a lesson, so they all turned into jolly giants. And the giant children do the funniest things! I'm sure you will like the piece.

"Lovingly,
"The Fairy Queen."

"Hurrah," shouted both of the Twins, "Beansstalk Land! We're going to Beansstalk Land!"

"Here's the bean," said Silver Wing, "and over yonder are your magic shoes. I must be going. Hope you have a nice time! Goodbye!"

"I've got a letter for you," said Silver Wing in a tiny voice. "It's from the Fairy Queen and I think you will like it. Twinkle-Pon, her secretary, told Nimble Toes, and Nimble Toes told me what was in it. But it is a surprise so I won't tell you until you read all about it. There."

Nancy took the tiny piece of paper the fairy handed her and began to read out loud. She had no trouble whatever, my dear, for the writing was magic written and anybody can read that, no matter how little it is, or how long the words.

It went:
"Dear Twins: The other night I was outside the nursery window when your mother was reading a story to you. It was called 'Jack and the Beanstalk,' the story was, and you both liked it so well, I heard you say that you wished you could go to Beansstalk Land."

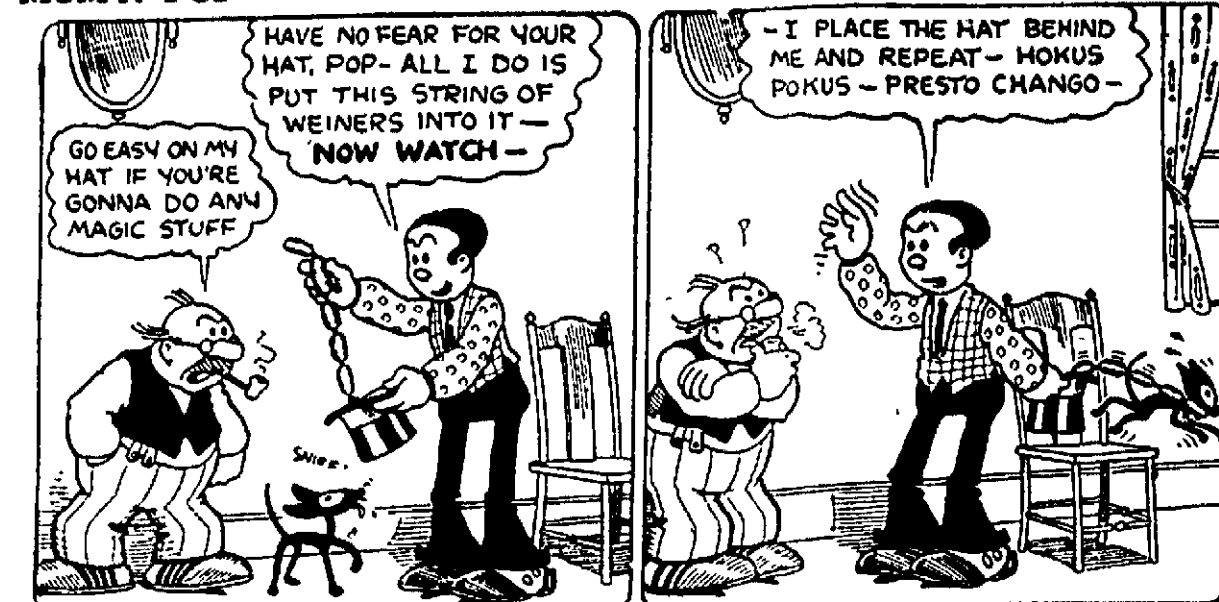

"Now, if you really meant it, I am going to see that you get there. Look under the big stone by the chestnut-tree and you will find the famous magic green shoes that can take you any place you wish to go in Fairyland."

ORGANIZED LABOR HAPPY OVER NEW IMMIGRATION LAW

Restriction of Immigration Made More Severe by New Measure

Organized labor in Appleton is pleased over the passage of the immigration act by the house of representatives. The Appleton Trades and Labor council at its last meeting endorsed the Johnson immigration bill and urged Congressman George J. Schneider of Appleton to support it.

Congressman Schneider himself had offered two amendments to the bill as affecting the residence here of alien seamen, but Fred Bachman, president of the trades and labor council had no information as to whether the amendments were adopted.

Among the general features of the immigration act are the yearly limitation of immigrants to 2 per cent of the 1920 population of the nationalities represented by the aliens. This is more severe than the old immigration still in effect and practically excludes Japanese. Wives and unmarried children, under 18 years, of resident aliens are not affected by the restrictions, neither are unmarried children under 18, father or mother of over 55 years, and wife and husband of United States citizens restricted by the 2 per cent quota.

HOPE CONCERT WILL COMPLETE BAND FUND

Appleton Lions, pleased with the advance sale of tickets for the concert which will be given Wednesday evening by the Green Bay High Schools band, under auspices of the local club, are confident that the profits from this entertainment will be almost sufficient to complete the fund of $1,000 which will be used to purchase band instruments for use of Appleton high school pupils. A considerable sum has been raised by the club since the fund was started and club members are hopeful there will be ended Wednesday night.

Green Bay is enthusiastic over its band which has been highly complimented by many music critics. It is composed entirely of high school pupils who have worked together for about a year to perfect their work.

BOY IS THROWN FROM CAR; BADLY INJURED

An unidentified boy about five years old was thrown from his parent's car on the Menasha road at 4:30 Sunday afternoon and was severely injured. The automobile was headed toward Appleton and was about midway between Menasha and Appleton. Traffic was delayed for nearly half an hour and during that time nearly 100 cars lined up.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

A special train for accommodation of University of Wisconsin students returning to Madison will be operated by the Northwestern railroad on Tuesday. The train will leave Appleton at 4:10 in the afternoon and is scheduled to arrive in Madison at 8:25. Stops will be made at the larger cities enroute.

ON THE SCREEN

STRONG THEME VERY DIS- CREETLY HANDLED

Seldom is an author given the opportunity to picture his own story on the screen. It is hard enough to write a story that will picture at all. However, Chas. A. Legue has done both in "Man and Woman" and done it well. It is the sort of photoplay that will be relished by a public weary of draggy adaptations of novels and plays that should

"Man and Woman," at the new Bijou today and Tuesday, written for the silver sheet, belongs there. It is replete with action, consistent characterizations and those clashes which are best translated in terms of physical action. Also it transpires in an atmosphere of rich romantic beauty—the South Sea Islands.

The story of a society girl who seeks unusual means of proving her devotion that clothes make the man, is an interesting one. It becomes extraordinarily interesting in the telling because it veers away from the usual.

At the outset Mr. Logue places

his characters in a piquant situation; the girl who introduces the beach-comber, attired as a gentleman, at the governor-general's ball. Then when she believes her theory a fact, she makes public her deception. The man she has duped kidnaps her and takes her to a lonely island, there to put into practice his own argument to the effect that the society girl will become a derelict if she is deprived of the refinements of civilization.

A remarkable cast is seen in the picture with Milton Sills as the manly hero; Anna Q. Nilsson as Cherry Marlowe, the loyal dance-hall queen; Barbara Bedford, a pretty brunette as Helen Chester, the innocent heroine; Noah Berry as McNamara, the crooked but courageous politician; Mitchell Lewis as Marshal Voorhees, afraid of no man that walked; Robert Edeson, as the rough-and-ready Joe Dextry, mine owner and ready to face death for his rights; Sam de Grasse as the cowardly Judge Stillman; Robert Nic-

Kim as Struve, the crooked lawyer; Ford Sterling; Rockliffe-Fellowes, Louise Fazenda, Gordon Russell, Wallace MacDonald, and numerous other players well known for their ability to act Western roles.

It isn't this superb cast and its skillful acting which make "The Spoilers" such thrilling entertainment. It's the story. Rex Beach described at first-hand the feverish fight for gold in the Klondike when the sands of the Yukon suddenly turned yellow. His account of how the miners were despoiled of some of their richest properties by corrupt politicians is an historic event. Beach crammed his novel with conflict, romance and suspense and this Director Lambert Hillier has skillfully portrayed on the silver sheet.

The crashing climax in "The Spoilers" comes of course, in that epic fight in which Glennister and McNamara settle their scores. Their tussle is one of the very best rough and tumble fights of the screen. If you enjoy a red-blooded exciting film, with a real story, don't miss "The Spoilers," at the Elite today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

FOND DU LAC WINS FIRST DUAL SWIMMING MEET

Invading Tank Stars Defeat Appleton Men In "Y" Pool Saturday

Amaan, Hostile Star, Wins Gold Medal for First Place. Rich, Appleton Takes Second. Royal, Fondy, Third.

New Coaches

TOP, INGVERSON BOTTOM, LOCKE

Fond du Lac swimming team Saturday night piled up 64 points, to 43 for the Appleton tank stars in the dual meet staged in the Y. M. C. A. pool here. The tournament was attended by a large number of interested fans, and its success assures the permanency of this sport in the future.

Originally it had been planned to score the fancy dives as one event, but at the last moment this ruling was changed, and each dive was scored individually. This gave Fond du Lac a considerable advantage. Had the original system been allowed to stand, Appleton would still have lost, but the score would have been 57 to 31.

Amaan of Fond du Lac won the gold medal with 25 points to his credit. Rich of Appleton took second place with 21 points and was awarded a silver medal, while another Fond du Lac man, Royal, took third place with 15 points and with it a bronze medal.

LIST OF WINNERS
Following are the winners of the various events with time and the points scored:

100-yard race: 1 minute, 6 1/2 seconds; Schultz, Fond du Lac, 5 points. Rich, Appleton, 3 points. Thomsen, Fond du Lac, 1 point.

20-yard breast stroke: 13 seconds; Rich, Appleton, 5 points. Buetemeister, Fond du Lac, 1 point.

20-yard backstroke: 15 seconds; Rich, Appleton, 5 points. Buetemeister, Fond du Lac, 1 point.

20-yard crawl stroke: 2 1/2 seconds; Royal, Fond du Lac, 5 points. Schultz, Fond du Lac, 3 points. Rich, Appleton, 1 point.

Plunge for distance: 47 feet; Royal, Fond du Lac, 5 points. Rich, Appleton, 3 points. Buetemeister, Fond du Lac, 1 point.

Swan dive: Amaan, Fond du Lac, 5 points. Hendrickson, Appleton, 3 points. Hendrickson, Fond du Lac, 1 point. Stanchfield, Appleton, (tie) 1 point.

Front jackknife dive: Amaan, Fond du Lac, 5 points. Hendrickson, Appleton, 3 points. Stanchfield, Fond du Lac, 1 point.

First optional dive: Amaan, Fond du Lac, half gainer, 5 points; Hendrickson, Appleton, back dive, 3 points; H. Colvin, Appleton, full gainer, 1 point.

Second optional dive: Amaan, Fond du Lac, full gainer, 5 points; Stanchfield, Fond du Lac, back jackknife, 3 points; Hendrickson, H. Colvin, Appleton, half gainer, (tie) 1 point.

Fond du Lac also won the relay. The Fond du Lac team was composed of Schultz, Royal, Thomsen and Stanchfield, while Van Alstine, H. Colvin, Aderholt and Rich swam for Appleton. The following officiated in the meet: A. C. Denner, dive judge and starter; Guy Barlow, timer and judge of finish; Tom Gonn, judge of finish; F. D. Gebhardt, judge of finish; A. P. Jensen, announcer and clerk.

BLUE TRACKMEN GET READY FOR OPENING JOUST

Lawrence Field Will Be in Shape for Outdoor Practice This Week

Lawrence track and field candidates have been working in Alexander gymnasium for some weeks in preparation for the opening of the season on April 26, on which date an interclass meet is scheduled on Lawrence athletic field. Some of the candidates have turned out to prepare the field for practice. Most of the track was in good condition last week, but several snow banks which melted more slowly than usual had to be shoveled where the sun and wind could get a chance at them. This work has been completed, and it is expected the athletes will be able to do the rest of their training out side.

According to Fred W. Trease, executive manager of the Lawrence college athletic association, this is coaching the trackmen material this year points to better prospects than have been evident for several seasons. In addition to Roy Grignon, captain, who starts with the javelin, there are twelve veterans this year, and besides these a large number of freshmen are turning out. Among the newcomers there is some excellent material. A. C. Denner, athletic director, will handle the field hopefuls.

Last year Lawrence made a mediocre showing. The Blue obtained fifth place in the Midwest conference, third in the state and first against Oakbrook and Stevens Point normals.

VOLUME OF FREIGHT INCREASING

Without considering the merchant ships that goes by steamboat, express car or mail, there are between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 freight pounds each year in the United States as evidence of the great amount of freight commerce in the country. In 1921 the total was only about 40,000,000.

COUNTY BASEBALL CHIEFS WILL MEET TO BUILD LEAGUE

Conclave Arranged for Wednesday Evening to Organize New Loop

Managers and directors of six county baseball clubs have been invited to attend a meeting in the offices of the Post-Crescent at 745 Wednesday evening to organize a county league. New London, Hortonville, Dale, Black Creek, Bear Creek and Fremont are candidates for entry into the loop, which will play Sunday fall exclusively.

A constitution and bylaws will be adopted at the Wednesday meeting, and a schedule which already has been mapped out will be adopted. Officials are to be chosen and other important details settled so that the wheel will be ready for action within a month after the meeting.

Last year the county league broke up after a game or two and most of the teams played independent baseball for the rest of the season. This turned out to be a highly unsatisfactory system, and many of the teams in this part of the country raised a clamor for organized ball.

Most of the games proposed for the loop are hereditary rivals, which promises well for their drawing power. Even with independent ball, where no definite schedule had been adopted and the arrangement of dates was very uncertain, several of the teams came out ahead financially last year. With a definite schedule it looks as though the success of the league will be assured.

MARKSMEN OPEN SEASON ON MAY 4

Four Registered Shoots Are Planned by Appleton Angling and Shooting Club

Four registered shoots have been arranged for the summer schedule of the Appleton Angling and shooting club, the first of which is due on Sunday, May 4. The other three meet on June 15, July 27, and September 1.

The shooting park on the Lake road has been improved considerably, and according to a statement by G. L. Chamberlain, secretary-treasurer of the club, the coming season is expected to be the most successful since the organization of the club. A drive for new members has brought several marksmen into the ranks, and all of the old members plan to better their last year's records.

Now that the heavyweight champion, Dempsey has signed a million dollar contract to box in the films we may expect to hear any day—

That Felix Q. Pieps, champion riveter of the Pittsburgh district, has joined the Art and Whistler Film Company and will be starred in Dugally Wiggly fairy tales—

That the combined faculties of Yale and Harvard have thrown up their jobs and gone west to enter the movies, where brains really are appreciated—

That Cal Coolidge has quit the White House and left for Hollywood to impersonate the leading part in the historical drama, entitled "Mr. Ziktor, We Are Here"—

That Secretary Hughes has asked waltzers on his large, luxurious crop of whiskers and bought a pair of boxing gloves and a full set of boxing mitts—

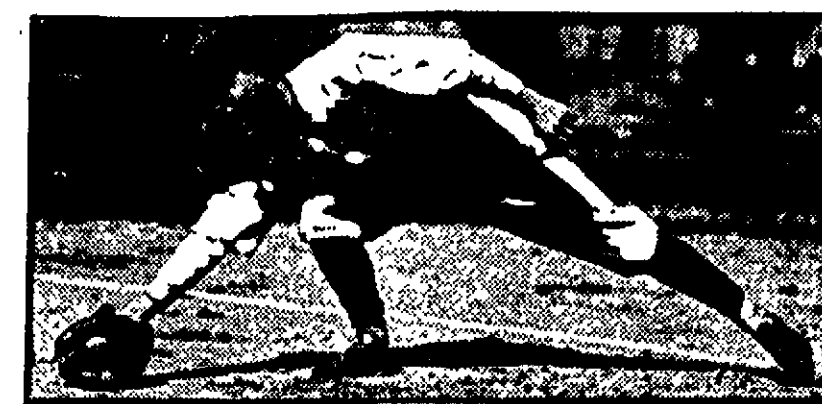

That Powerful Karinka has succumbed to the financial allurements of the Knockout and Fadeout, Inc., and will be featured in a series of vague French adaptations—

That Babe Ruth has canceled his $50,000 contract with the Yankees and signed with the Spread-the-Dirt Masterpieces as an extra, thus doubling his baseball earnings—

That J. Sampson Thelknoek, strong man of the Jangling Brothers' Circus, has accepted the role of Phyllis and in the famous sex drama of that name, soon to be produced by the Ethelric Knockabout, Ltd.—

That John Barrymore has turned his noble back to Hamlet and agreed to bottle Flopping Fred Fulton, with a view to building up a snappy reputation as a fist slinger—

Second Sisler?

ROD KNOBE

Will Bob Knoke prove a second George Sisler? Manager Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians hopes so. Knoke hails from University of Michigan as did Sisler. Like the St. Louis star, he won college fame at first base. He is a left-hander, and is built on the same lines as Sisler.

Success Of Friday Fight Card Assures Future Of Game Here

Bud Gorman and Sergeant Ray Smith, Eastern Fight Celebrity, Probably Will Fight in Windup of Next Program.

Although the expenses of the Stribling-Quinn card here Friday were extremely heavy, Elmer Johnston and the volunteer committee of businessmen who furnished financial backing for the fight more than broke even. They have not yet been able to estimate the exact standing of the bank account because the bills haven't all come in, but it is thought there will be a surplus of about $1,000.

Although the main bout was something of a disappointment to many fans, the card without a doubt was one of the greatest advertising stunts which ever put Appleton in the eye of the public, and the manner in which it went through encourages the promoters to attempt a similar card in the near future. The next Appleton card is likely to include a wind-up in which Bud Gorman will clash with Sergeant Ray Smith, a popular fighter from the east. Of course, Stribling is one of the greatest attractions in the game today and neither Gorman nor Smith have reached his high standard of popularity, but both are known to be near the front rank of the fight arena.

"MA" COMPLAINS OF CROWD
After the big fight Friday night, "Ma" Stribling said he had never seen a more orderly crowd. Furthermore, "Pa" agreed and was so pleased with the reception that he expressed himself in favor of another bout for the "Roy" here. He said that Gunner Joe Quinn looked as good as Mike McGue in his last fight. Whether that was meant as a compliment to the Gunner or a slam at McGue is a matter to be left to the fans who saw the fight Friday.

The Stribling-Quinn card proved that it pays to show a high class of bouts in Appleton. The committee composed of Charles Hostenberger, Phil Miller, Jack McCann and Dr. R. R. Lally probably will continue to take a hand in arranging all future cards here, and will try to keep the standard up to that of the Friday schedule.

QUESTIONS
1. If, with no one on the bases, the pitcher delivers the ball while off the rubber and it goes over the plate between the knee and shoulder, how does the umpire rule on it?
2. If a pitcher with no one on the bases delivers the ball while off the rubber and the batsman strikes at such illegally delivered ball how does it count?
3. If the pitcher gets on the rubber with the ball in his possession, and seeks to exasperate the batter by slow methods, how long may he indulge in such tactics without being penalized?
4. Is the calling of a balk vested only in the umpire calling balls and strikes?
5. Has a pitcher the right to use resin in helping him grip the ball or is it regarded as a foreign substance?

ANSWERS
1. Such an illegally delivered ball is called a ball even though it passes over the plate and conforms to strike regulations.
2. It counts as a strike or whatever play may follow.
3. Delaying over 30 seconds by the pitcher after getting on the rubber gives the umpire the right to call a ball on him.
4. The base umpire as well as the umpire in chief can call a balk.
5. Resin cannot be used. It is regarded as a foreign substance.

M'GRAW GAMBLES WITH YOUTH IN TRY FOR PENNANT

Two Youngsters Still Attending School Are Assigned As Shortstops

New York — Old John McGraw, gray and 60, a brisque campaigner, who refuses to believe a greater team ever stepped onto a diamond than the ancient Baltimore Orioles, is making a gaudy gamble with youth this year.

Old John has assigned the regular shortstop job to Travis Calvin Jackson, a 20-year-old stripling who is still going to college down in Arkansas.

"You get in there and play the position. It's yours." That's what old John told the young man the day he arrived in camp. Jackson took his place in the regular lineup that day and has been there ever since.

What if Jackson falters or is hurt? Another kid will be thrown into the breach, Fred Lindstrom, a prodigy of the Toledo club, who still must wait two years before he can express his indignation of interior secretaries at the polls.

Roger Bresnahan, former Giant catcher, heard McGraw praise Jackson and then watched him play.

"I've got a kid over on my Toledo club who is just as good," insisted Bresnahan.

That's how Lindstrom happened to join the club, and that's why McGraw is grooming him as Jackson's understudy. If the 20-year-old phenom fails, the 19-year-old prodigy will leap to the juncos, as they say in the high school playlets.

Jackson, however, is not likely to fail. Filling in for Groh and later for Bancroft late last summer, the Arkansas boy demonstrated genuine ability. He looked good at third and great at short. He will be playing along side of a remarkable infielder in Frank Frisch. The two should form a superior double-play combination.

The Giants bought Jackson from Little Rock, you may remember, for $20,000.

YOUNG STRIBLING MEETS CANADIAN ON MONDAY CARD
Philadelphia — Young Stribling meets Tex McEwan of Canada Monday night in a ten-round decision bout.

Stribling said he was in excellent condition and that his only regret was that his opponent was not Mike McGue, holder of the light heavyweight title.

"I could lick McGue every night in the week," he added.

McEwan said he was ready to give the Georgia youth a good beating.

WEAKNESS OF NEW YORK ACES KEEPS BENTLEY ON MOUND

Dangerous Batsman Is Expert Firstsacker But McGraw, Can't Use Him

New York — Only the fact that he needs pitchers and has a competent first baseman in George Kelly keeps Manager McGraw of the New York Giants from using Pitcher Jack Bentley at the initial corner.

Bentley likes to play first base. Bentley does not like to pitch. Manager McGraw knows just how Bentley feels about it, would like to shift him to first base, but weakness in the pitching department keeps him from doing so.

Bentley is a dangerous batsman. He proved that conclusively in his National League debut last season. While Bentley is not a great pitcher, his style is particularly effective against certain clubs and McGraw picked the spots for him last summer to great advantage.

During his days of starring for the Baltimore club, in the International League, Manager Dunn handled Bentley much as McGraw is doing, except that he always used Bentley as a first baseman when not pitching him. One year while pitching against cubs that were soft for him Bentley only lost one game in the International League.

Were not George Kelly such a good fielder and dangerous hitter, McGraw would probably use Bentley exclusively at first base.

It is a rather interesting fact that Babe Ruth and George Sisler, two of the outstanding stars of the American League, entered that organization as pitchers, only to be played elsewhere regularly because of their batting.

Los Angeles — Ray Weisner, nationally known motorcycle racer, died of injuries received when he crashed into a fence at Ascot speedway.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By GEORGE McMANUS

17 CHILDREN IN VIRGINIA FAMILY

Richmond, Va. — Twenty children; 17 living; all of one marriage; all born within 25 years—and no twins or triplets!

"That's our record!" says Augustine Montgomery Brooch, 57 years old, of Blasco Postoffice, King and Queen counties. "We claim there's not another family in the United States to equal it."

The challenge was issued at a reunion of the Brooch family at the old home, Sugar Hill farm, where every son and daughter was born.

"We have heard of one of two instances of a larger family," says Papa Brooch, "but investigation disclosed that they were not all the children of one couple. In each instance the father had a second wife. Another case we investigated disclosed twins. There are no twins in the Brooch family. All ours came singly."

The youngest child is Miss Ella Bernice Brooch, 13 years old, and the oldest is William Henry Brooch, 38.

The children are: William Henry, Augustine Beale, Cleveland Washington, Hutchinson, John Wesley, Ella Bernice, Mrs. William Brooke and Daisy Inez Brooch, all of King and Queen counties; Mrs. Rosa Brooke, West Point, Va.; Mrs. Lella Irvin, Danville, Va.; Mrs. Sadie Wheeler, Mrs. Alice Schoolis, Mrs. Viola Lotz, Mrs. Beatrice Ballard, Olive Broome, Brooch, Frances Thelma Broome and Walter Fleet Brooch, all of Richmond.

Another singular fact about the Brooch family is that Mama Brooch, who became a bride at 15 and is now 54, was an only child.

SEEMS EVERYBODY WANTS TO READ MISS FERBER'S NEW BOOK

"So Big" Is in Greatest Demand at Public Library, Records Show

Edna Ferber's books always endure, for she writes the kind one doesn't mind reading the second time. In fact they can be read three or four times and new things discovered to delight the reader. That is why her newest book, "So Big," is so very popular at the library. Those who were thrilled with "The City," published prior to "So Big," will like her later book if they are lucky enough to secure a copy at the library, for the demand for it is great.

Whether it is because vacation time is drawing near or just because people like to read travel books that they are so popular is hard to say, but certainly within the last few weeks the demand for them has been very noticeable. The most popular of these is "The Out Trail" by Mary Roberts Rinehart, who writes entertainingly of her experience traveling "rough." Faris has written a book on "Seeing the Middle West," and that is almost as popular as the Rinehart book.

One of the newer and popular books at the library is "The Interpreter's House" by Burt. There are many new books at the library and "The Interpreter's House" has been much in demand.

Another of the new and extremely popular books is "Siege" by Samuel Hopkins Adams. The background of "Siege" is a manufacturing community controlled four generations by one family. Ruling the family, the social life of the community and the conduct of the great industry which she controls, stands Mrs. Augustus Rylands, in her seventies, a woman so vigorous and indomitable that she would seem to defy the forces of nature.

Of "Siege" the author says: "Siege is the novel into which I put the most observation and study of that rapidly changing species, Homo more-or-less Sapient. My other fiction has dealt more with social conditions, and the dramatic process have been, perhaps, somewhat undisciplined to the environment in which they lived or played their parts. But in "Siege" the human element is the whole thing. I've lived and thought with my imagined folk until they have become a part of my own world, and now that the tale is told, I feel a queer sort of loneliness and isolation, as if there were 'no place to go' outside of the world of so-called reality."

"I have used two women for my chief characters because in this amazing and bewildering period of changing values, terms, and ratios in which we whirl women seem to me to be changing and seeking an altered base of life more swiftly, exigently and profoundly than men. And I have not seen anywhere and forth the conflict inevitable through it of the old-type woman representing authority, tradition, acceptance of stated standards, with the new woman reaching for freedom, without necessarily knowing what to do with it, intolerant of restraint with her own specialized self-respect, eagerness of vision, and demands upon the world she lives in. Since I could not find this anywhere in fiction and saw it all about me in life, I wrote it myself in "Siege."

Little folks have been asking for bird books and animal stories in the children's department. Thompson's "Wild Animals I Have Known" is one of the most in demand. Another popular animal book is "Lives of the Hunted." The bird book by Burgess and Burrough's bird stories are much called for.

Marinette Again Asks Chamber of Commerce to Fight for Route 15

Marinette Chamber of Commerce has renewed its war to keep traffic on state highway 15, according to a letter received by Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

A newspaper clipping is enclosed with the communication which, it is claimed by Marinette, shows that Green Bay and Iron Mountain, Mich., are conspiring to divert traffic to highway 77 so these cities will obtain

Noted Chicago Tenor Will Sing Best Parts Of "Messiah" Oratorio

Dwight Edrus Cook Will Assist Community Chorus in Easter Musical Festival, Singing Four of the Principal Arias.

Some of the most impressive parts of the "Messiah" oratorio by Handel will be in the group of solos which will be sung by Dwight Edrus Cook, dramatic tenor, of Chicago, who will be one of the assisting artists at the community musical festival at Lawrence Memorial chapel Easter Sunday and Monday.

Two of the arias, "Comfort Ye My People," and "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted," are the outstanding numbers of the oratorio, and presented by a tenor of Mr. Cook's ability, will add to the merit of the production. "Thou Shalt Break Them with a Rod of Iron." The former is an unusually expressive solo, with a tinge of sadness. It is the latter Mr. Cook will have opportunity to display his vocal resources at their best.

The noted tenor is to sing both days of the festival, on Sunday when the public will be admitted free, and on Monday when seats will be reserved at prices designed only to cover expenses. Tickets may be obtained from committees in various churches, or seats may be purchased any time this week at Belling Drug store. Most of the chapel will be sold at 25 cents, and the remainder at 75 and 50 cents.

Not less than 3,000 people are expected to hear this greatest of all musical events in Appleton. It is seldom a chorus of 250, with a richness of tone quality, a group of noted solo artists, and an orchestra and organ can be heard in one program where the outstanding Easter music of the world will be given.

the bulk of the hotel and other business of the tourists.

Congressman W. Frank Jones declares, in using his influence to obtain federal aid for the surfacing of highway 57. This is taken to mean that attempts will be made to pave the gravel portions in the near future. Marinette objects to this, not only because of the traffic it might divert, but also because unpaved portions of highway 15 may not be come improved as a result.

Cities of the Fox river valley are taking little part in the controversy. It is felt by commercial organizations that highway 15 is so heavily used that relief from congestions would be welcome. The route is sure to carry as much travel as usual, it is believed, because the amount of tourists will increase each year and any efforts Green Bay or Iron Mountain might put forth will not cause much disadvantage to hotels, garages and other business places here.

SMILE SONG FINDS REAL RIVAL AT LAST

"Land of My Sunset Dreams" Has Many Admirers Among Record Buyers

"A Smile Will Go a Long, Long Way," still is the most popular phonograph record in Appleton, perhaps because it can be obtained on all makes of records, but it has a dangerous rival in "Land of My Sunset Dreams," written by Wendell Hall, author of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," which was very popular a short time ago. It is believed in some places that "Land of My Sunset Dreams" will be another "Three O'clock in the Morning," which had a phenomenal run in its day.

"The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," vocal and instrumental, is the most popular place among the standard selections. The instrumental record is played by Kreisler, and the vocal record is sung by Allen.

"Whose Izzy Is He," "Monna Vana," "Sleep," "London Bridge is Falling Down," "My Love—Waltz," "California, Here I Come," and "Where the Lazy Daisies Grow" are among the other popular records. Following is the list of most popular records:

Victor—Land of My Sunset Dreams, Monna Vana, A Smile Will Go a Long, Long Way, The One I Love Belongs to Somebody Else, The World is Waiting for the Sunrise (Kreisler.)

Two Ancient Landmarks Are Taken Apart

Two old landmarks were removed last week, one in Center, the other in Freedom. An old 16 by 18 foot building on the Alvin Friem farm in the town of Center was torn down, showing that the lumber in the building was almost as good as new. Pine boards were taken off that were 12 feet long and 2 feet wide and were absolutely minus a knot. The building also contained some very excellent heavy timbers. It is said that the building was once used as a small casket factory, but in later years it had been used as a workshop. The building was over 50 years old, and had even never been painted.

Another old structure, a log barn was torn down this week by Albert VandenHoy of the town of Freedom. The building was dismantled to provide fire wood. It was one of the first buildings of the town. Albert Luebke said when he settled in that territory 43 years ago, the log barn was an old building even then.

An old log building that vies with the other two in point of age is lo-

PREPARE FOR EXTENSION WATER DEPARTMENT MAINS

The busy season of the year for the distribution system of the Appleton water department is at hand, for the department is about to begin work on its 1924 program of water main and water service extensions.

The department is prepared to start work on Monday. Anthony Tomasin will do the water main trenching for the department, and Chris Franck and company and John McHugh will divide the work of trenching for service extensions. Employees of the distribution system will be used to install the pipes, hydrants, valves and other fittings.

located on the William Wichman farm in the town of Center, and this also may be dismantled soon. It was put up many years ago by the late Fred Brock. The age of the building is not known, but some residents remember seeing the old house 45 years ago when they went swimming near there in Duck Creek. It looked the same to them then as it does now. It has been deserted for years.

The Butte des Morts Golf club has come into possession of another old landmark through purchase of a part of the farm of Frank Hammes on the Brickyard rd. It also is an old log house, one of the few remaining ones in the county.

teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Such tooth troubles come to nearly all who do not fight the film.

Now dental science has found ways to daily combat film. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Dental authorities have proved these methods effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists everywhere began to advise it. Now careful people the world over use this new-day method.

These combined effects bring at once a new conception of what clean teeth mean.
